The Orono Technology look

For anything you make for staff, families, or students: slides, newsletters, handouts, and tools.

Color

Blue leads. Red marks the one thing that matters most. Gray carries the text.

Blue dark	Primary blue	Blue light	Blue lighter	Primary red	Red light	Red lighter	Dark gray	Gray	Light gray
#1d2a5d	#2d3f89	#4356a0	#eaecf5	#ad2122	#c13435	#e5c7c7	#333333	#666666	#f3f3f3

Blue, about 60% · Red, 15% · Gray and white, 25%

Type

Lexend for headings, Roboto for everything else. Sentence case.

Exit tickets

Try one this week

Hand out three questions at the door. Sort the answers into got it, almost, and not yet.

Shown at real size: title 26pt, heading 18pt, body 11pt. If Lexend isn't installed, use Calibri, then Arial.

Logos

Use the files as they are. Never recolor, stretch, or redraw them.

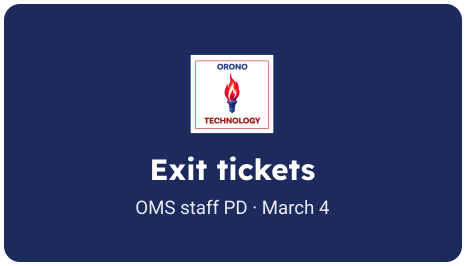

ORONOTECHNOLOGY

On white.

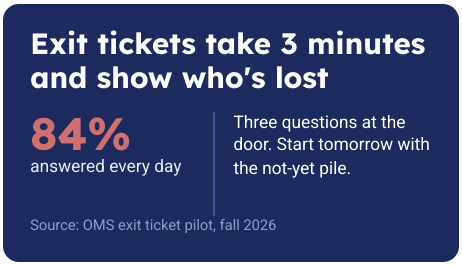

On dark blue. The wide logo's blue lettering disappears there.

Slides

Dark blue by default. A content slide's title says its point, so the titles alone tell the story.

Title slide. Square logo, short title.

Content slide. One red number at most, and a source line.

Section divider. Primary blue, short title.

Do this, not that

Separate things with space and thin lines. Say it in plain words.

Notes that matter

Do

Heads up: Wi-Fi password changes Monday.

Don't

Wi-Fi password changes Monday.

Lists

Do

PD hours	Mar 6
Survey	Apr 2

Don't

PD hours Mar 6

Survey Apr 2

Slide titles

Do

Exit tickets take 3 minutes and show who's lost

Don't

Exit Tickets: A Practical Guide

Sentences

Do

The form closes Friday. Email the tech office with questions.

Don't

The form closes Friday, so submit before then, and reach out with any questions.